Activity

Snowmobiling

The snow rangers rode around Battle Ridge, the Throne, and Naya Nuki today. New snow depth ranged from 2" to maybe 4-5" in sheltered/lee locations. Lots of older wet slide debris was visible but no avalanche activity in the new snow. There is a very firm crust in most areas and anything with southern exposure has gotten very thin, including the trail in. We rode through several large mud patches on the way out.
