

Human triggered R3 D3 Gardiner Headwall

Date

Sat, 06/01/2024 - 15:40

Activity

Skiing

Snowmobiling

At approximately 15:40 a D3 avalanche on the Gardiner headwall broke. It was triggered by a snowboarder and his dog. The run had already been tracked by skis and snow machines but the trigger point was slightly farther skier right and appeared to trigger a convex wind slab.

Several skiers, boarders, and riders were in the area but there were no burials or injuries.
